

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

PREFATORY LETTER

To the Master, Wardens and Court of Assistants of the Worshipful Company of Merchant Taylors.

GENTLEMEN,

The following record compiled at your request is intended primarily as a continuation of the Register edited by the late Dr. C. J. Robinson, published in 1882. In that most interesting work, executed with such scholarly ability and laborious research, the list of Scholars of Merchant Taylors' School is carried down from the early days of Edmund Spenser and Lancelot Andrewes, under the Head Mastership of that greatest and most "modern" of ancient School Masters, Richard Mulcaster, to the last boy admitted to the old School in Suffolk Lane on February 5, 1875, before the migration of the School to Charterhouse Square.

As the boys admitted during the last four or five years covered by the earlier Register were for the most part still in the School at the time of its removal, with any record of distinction to which they might attain as yet in the future, I have thought it well for the sake of greater completeness and continuity, to go back to the commencement of my own Head Mastership in January, 1871, as a starting point for a new Register, and to carry the list of entries to the close of my Head Mastership in December, 1900, leaving to one of a later generation to take up the tale hereafter from that point. The story therefore here presented may be regarded as an account of the thirty years during which by the favour of the Court I held my Office and Stewardship as the twenty-second Head Master of the Company's School.

The period covered by these pages forms but a brief, yet not unimportant chapter in the history of your ancient School. That history is in one sense unique. Though from the first Merchant Taylors' has always been a Day School for poor scholars (for the original statutes provide that there should be "no meate, nor drink, nor bottles nor breakfasts in the time of learning, . . . nor cock-fighting, nor tennis play, nor riding about of victoring") yet it has from its earliest days held rank as one of the great Public Schools of England.

Such recognition is no doubt largely due to its close and continuous connexion with the older Universities, and especially with St. John's College, Oxford, founded in 1555 by a Member of the Court of the Merchant Taylors' Company, who attached to Merchant Taylors' School thirty-seven out of the fifty Fellowships established at that College, which became to Merchant Taylors' what New College was to Winchester, King's College, Cambridge, to Eton, and Christ Church to Westminster. And it is worthy of note that in 1655 Visitors were appointed by the Council of State for the Universities, and for the four Schools of Westminster, Winchester, Merchant Taylors' and Eton mentioned in that order. Other benefactors strengthened this connexion with the Universities by founding scholarships or exhibitions attached for the most part to particular Colleges at Oxford or Cambridge, some account of which will be found in Appendix B.¹ In more recent times Merchant Taylors' was one of the nine Schools included in the Report of the Public School Commissioners of 1864.

But the one feature which distinguishes Merchant Taylors' from all other Schools of similar character is its entire lack of endowment, and the fact that it was founded and has been carried on for nearly three centuries and a half entirely at the charges of the Court of the Merchant Taylors' Company out of their Corporate funds.

Such a burden after the School was once founded was not only an honourable, but a comparatively easy one for such a body to bear for the first 300 years or so of the School's history, during which educational requirements were few and simple. And so long as the School remained in its old confined quarters in Suffolk Lane, no great expansion or departure from a somewhat narrow course of instruction and old-world methods (which nevertheless produced in their day many great and notable scholars) was in any way possible. It was the removal of Charterhouse School from London that gave the Court the opportunity they had long sought for of purchasing from the Governors of the Charterhouse an ample site with playground, on the confines of the City, on which, at whatever increased demand upon the resources of the Company, their School might be supplied with all the luxuries of equipment so imperiously demanded by modern Education, and might still be able to hold that proud rank amongst the Public Schools of the kingdom to which it has always aspired.

The results set before you in the following pages, which embrace the last few years of the School in Suffolk Lane and the first quarter of a century of the School in Charterhouse Square, will perhaps furnish materials for estimating how far that ideal has been attained. That the traditional connexion with Oxford and Cambridge has not been relaxed may be shown from the fact that out of 3288 boys who were educated at the School between 1871 and 1900, upwards of 720 proceeded to one or other University, 500 of whom obtained Scholarships or Exhibitions in close or open competition. During that period 175 First Classes were gained, 128 University Scholarships or Prizes, and 22 open Fellowships, though for many years of this period Fellowships open to competition were few and far between. In the number of University Students above given are included many who have not yet completed their University course. Of those who have taken University degrees about half have either taken Holy Orders or are engaged in the work of Education or Research. A large number have entered either the Legal or Medical Profession, or have obtained first class clerkships in the Home, Indian, and Colonial Civil Service, whilst others are engaged in literature and journalism, or are distributed in smaller numbers over various professions and callings.

Of the whole number educated at the School during these thirty years out of some 2,750, whose career is known, 281 have taken or are studying for Holy Orders (of whom 4 have become Bishops), 291 have adopted the Medical Profession, some of whom have risen to considerable eminence, 213 have become Engineers, 184 Barristers or Solicitors, 101 have entered the Army, 31 the Navy, 164 are or have been engaged in Education or Research, 124 in various branches of the Civil Service, 92 in Art, Literature or Journalism, 65 as Architects or Surveyors, 87 on the Stock Exchange, 43 in the Mercantile Marine. No fewer than 684 have been engaged in Mercantile pursuits in England, including every variety of grade from junior office clerks to partners in large merchants' houses. Upwards of 320 are known to have settled abroad, in almost every part of the world, and probably a much larger number have done so, engaged either in mercantile pursuits or in ranching, fruit-growing, tea-planting, &c., or in Colonial troops, Indian Police, South African Constabulary, or similar bodies. It may be of interest to add that of the above 106 are known to have served in the late war in South Africa, by whom 21 mentions in despatches were obtained, 4 obtained the D.S.O., 2 Medals for Distinguished Service in the Field, 1 the badge of Gallantry in the S. A. Constabulary. Nine lost their lives during the war.

As this work is intended to supplement the earlier Register of Dr. Robinson, I have added in Appendix A what is of course a very imperfect list of appointments and distinctions of earlier scholars as they have come to my notice obtained since 1871, as well as an Obituary of some of those whose names appear in that work who have died since the same date. The latter will be found to contain many names of men who have done conspicuous service in Church and State. Amongst these may be mentioned Bishops Woodford, of Ely; Francis Russell Nixon, first Bishop of Tasmania; Henry Brougham Bousfield, first Bishop of Pretoria; and Henry Mackenzie, the first of the revived order of Suffragan Bishops, with his brother, Prebendary Charles Mackenzie, the Founder of the City of London College; Dean Mansel, of St. Paul's, one of the most learned writers and acute thinkers of his time; Philip Wynter, President of St. John's; Edward Hawkins, for fifty-four years

Provost of Oriel; John Power, Master of Pembroke College, Cambridge; my own two immediate predecessors as Head Masters of Merchant Taylors' School, John William Bellamy and James Augustus Hessey; Henry Hayman, Head Master of Rugby; Henry Robert Huckin, Head Master of Repton; William de Lancy West, Head Master of Epsom College; Dean Close, Archdeacons Browne and Robinson Thornton; Canons Randall, Venables, Burrows, and Heygate; Men of Science and Letters as Charles Pritchard, Savilian Professor of Astronomy at Oxford; Samuel Birch, the distinguished Orientalist; Richard Henry Major; Edward Augustus Bond, Senior Librarian of the British Museum; Sir Charles Tilstone Bright, layer of the first Atlantic telegraph; George Smith, the eminent Publisher, founder of the Cornhill Magazine and of the Dictionary of National Biography; that brilliant and versatile writer, Henry Duff Traill, with his elder brother, less known to the world but equally brilliant, William Frederick Traill, and Charles James Robinson, editor of the School Register from 1861, and author of several antiquarian works. To these should be added Charles James Matthews, the popular comedian whose father, Charles Matthews the Elder, was also educated at the Company's School; Sir William FitzHerbert, the "Grand Old Man" of New Zealand; Sir Charles Cookson and Sir Thomas Longmore, with many others. Nor can I forget two of my own colleagues, to each of whom both I myself and the School owe a deep debt of gratitude—Charles Hepworth Gibson, probably one of the best teachers the School ever had, and Richard Frederick Hosken, of whom mention will be made hereafter in connexion with some of the School Institutions. Not the least deserving of mention is a name that appears on the last page of the list—that of the distinguished Surgeon and Scholar, Timothy Holmes.

In other Appendices will be found a short account of the various Scholarships, Exhibitions and Chief Prizes, which have done so much to maintain a high standard of learning in the School; an Athletic Record, showing that the severe restrictions against all forms of recreation on the School premises found in the original Statutes have given way to sounder counsels; and a brief history of the origin of various School Institutions, illustrating the activity of the School in manifold directions resulting from the removal of 1875. Nor would this record be complete without a tribute to those Masters of the School to whose loyalty and devotion, collectively and individually, both I myself personally, and many generations of Scholars, during the period covered by these pages, are so deeply indebted.

One word I would add in conclusion. Though the religious teaching of the School has always been in accordance with that definite course of practical instruction which the Church of England supplies in the Church Catechism and Book of Common Prayer, and though the advantages of the School have been freely offered to, and freely accepted on behalf of many whose parents do not outwardly conform to the order and discipline of the Church of England, I cannot recall a single instance in which any difficulty has arisen on this score, or in which any exemption from the ordinary school teaching has been asked for during the whole thirty years of my Head Mastership.

It remains only for me to express my deep personal obligation to the Court for the education received during ten years, under the Head Mastership of my loved and honoured predecessor DR. HESSEY, in the Company's School, which I entered as the lowest boy in 1850, and left for St. John's College, Oxford, as Head Monitor, in 1860; for the many tokens of interest and encouragement which in common with other of their old scholars I received from them during my subsequent University career; above all, for the support and consideration they so generously extended to me during the thirty years of my Head Mastership, and for their continued kindly feeling towards one whose only claim is that in their service, with whatever shortcomings or imperfect success, he "tried to do his duty."

I have the honour to be,

Gentlemen,

Your most obedient and grateful servant,

WILLIAM BAKER.

NETHERFIELD, BERKHAMSTED.

December 1, 1907.

NOTE

The Editor desires to express his cordial thanks to the many old Merchant Taylors and others who have aided him in the compilation of these pages, especially to those who have responded promptly to his appeals for information or have helped him to trace others of whom he was in search. He is also much indebted to the School authorities for the facilities given for consulting the School books, of which the address books so carefully kept by the late School Secretary, Mr. Charles Waters, have been of the greatest value. Out of 3,288 names 2,748 have been wholly or partially accounted for. The particulars given would have been more complete and up-to-date and publication less delayed had not many who have been applied to been too modest to render any account of themselves, and too retiring to notify their frequent changes of address. He would also express his grateful acknowledgments to the compilers of other School Registers for much useful advice, especially to the Rev. R. B. Gardiner, Sur-Master of St. Paul's School, and to the Editors of the Charterhouse Register, the form of which has been somewhat closely imitated in the present work. Most of all are the thanks of the Editor due to his own wife and daughter, whose deep interest in all that concerns the School are not unknown to many old Merchant Taylors, and without whose constant encouragement and active assistance and co-operation, it would have been impossible for him to carry out so laborious an undertaking with any measure of success.

The portrait prefixed to this volume is from a photogravure by Messrs. T. and R. Annan and Sons, Glasgow, of a painting by the eminent Artist, Mr. J. S. Sargent, R.A., which was presented to the Editor of this volume on his retirement from the Head Mastership of the School by his former pupils, colleagues and other Old Merchant Taylors, and is now one of his possessions most highly cherished by himself and by his family.

Through the courtesy of Mr. H. B. Hays, Hon. Sec. of the Merchant Taylors' School Club, copies of this volume may, for a limited period, be purchased from Messrs. Alfred Hays and Co., 4, Royal Exchange Buildings, E.C., and 26, Old Bond Street, W.; price 7s. 6d. net, or 8s. post free; or they may be obtained direct from the Editor, the Rev. Dr. Baker, Netherfield, Berkhamsted, to whom all supplementary information and corrections of errors, inevitable in such a work, should be addressed.

APPENDIX B

SCHOLARSHIPS AND EXHIBITIONS LIMITED TO BOYS EDUCATED AT MERCHANT TAYLORS' SCHOOL.

SIR THOMAS WHITE SCHOLARSHIPS AT ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE, OXFORD.

Soon after the School was founded, Sir Thomas White, who was a member of the Court of the Merchant Taylors' Company at the time of its foundation, attached to it thirty-seven out of the fifty Fellowships in St. John's College, Oxford, recently founded by him. Boys elected from the School to St. John's were Probationary Fellows for three years, and then, if found qualified, admitted full Fellows. This splendid benefaction was in operation from 1572 to 1860. By an Ordinance of Privy Council under Act of Parliament, a regularly recurring number of Scholarships, tenable for a limited period, was substituted for Life Fellowships in 1861, the Fellowships being reduced in number and no longer limited to Scholars from Merchant Taylors' School. This arrangement was further modified by new Statutes made for St. John's by the University Commissioners in 1881, which provided that there should be thenceforth fifteen Junior Scholarships of the value of £100 per annum, tenable under certain conditions for five years by Scholars elected annually from the School on St. Barnabas' Day (June 11th), being under nineteen years of age on the day of election, of which two are awarded annually for Classics, and one for Natural Science (in alternate years) or for Mathematics, or for Hebrew and Divinity; and four Senior Scholarships of the value of £150 per annum, tenable for four years, open to members of the University educated at Merchant Taylors' School for two years at least last preceding their Matriculation, who shall not have exceeded twenty-eight terms from their Matriculation. No condition of residence attaches to a Senior Scholarship.

STUART EXHIBITION TO ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE, OXFORD.

Founded by Dr. William Stuart by will dated November, 1733. It is of the annual value of £60, tenable during residence for eight years at St. John's College, Oxford. "SCHOOL EXHIBITION" FOR SUPERANNUATED BOYS.

Founded by Trust Deed in 1809 out of a fund which had accumulated since the year 1698 from collections made at the Annual Meetings (or "School Feasts") of the gentlemen educated at Merchant Taylors' School, "for the laudable purpose of assisting and benefiting¹ superannuated boys educated at the said School, from time to time and in such way as the Trustees may think expedient." The Deed declared that the Trustees from time to time should be gentlemen educated at Merchant Taylors' School, with a preference for the President of St. John's College, Oxford, the Head Master of the said School (if so educated) and a gentleman of the Bar educated at the said School, and that the trust should embrace any sums subscribed or collected for the original purpose. The Exhibition has, with the consent of the Trustees, been awarded for Hebrew and Divinity since 1884, but this arrangement may be altered at any time at the discretion of the Trustees. The present Trustees are the Rev. Dr. Bellamy, President of St. John's College, Oxford, the Rev. PUBLIC SCHOOLS SCHOLARSHIP RECORD.

The previous lists are records of Scholarships and Exhibitions confined to boys educated at Merchant Taylors' School. In 1887 the Pall Mall Gazette began the practice of publishing a comparative list of Entrance Scholarships gained at Oxford and Cambridge by the various Public Schools. The record was afterwards continued by the Westminster Gazette and the Daily News, and was received with a good deal of public interest. In the case of Merchant Taylors', Eton and Winchester, the Close Scholarships confined to Scholars from these Schools, and attached to particular Colleges, are included in the list "owing to their high character and pecuniary value." In the 14 years recorded below, Merchant Taylors' occupied or was bracketed for the first place 7 times, 5 times gained the second place, once the third and once the fourth.

APPENDIX D

ATHLETIC RECORD.

I.—CRICKET ELEVENS.

No authentic record has been kept of School Elevens prior to 1879. Those however whose names are given with caution below appear to have represented the School in various matches. Prior to the removal of the School to Charterhouse Square the School had no ground of its own, the matches being played on public grounds, as the Eton and Middlesex, or Kennington Oval. In the early 'eighties a lease was acquired from the Ecclesiastical Commissioners of a ground of six acres at Willesden Green, which the School had notice to quit, the land being wanted for building purposes, in 1900. By the generosity of the Merchant Taylors' Company the present splendid ground of 12 acres was purchased for the School at Bellingham, near Catford, some 20 minutes by rail from St. Paul's Station, which was formally opened by a match between the M. T. Company (captained by the Master) and the School on May 21, 1900. A handsome and convenient pavilion has been provided by the Company.

II.—FOOTBALL.

The School Football Club dates from 1859, and plays under Rugby Union Rules. In 1871 it numbered about 50 members, and had its ground at Victoria Park. As in the case of the Cricket Elevens no authentic record of the earlier seasons appears to have been kept, except of the seasons 1873-74 and 1874-75, the results of the former of which, with names and characters for both seasons, appear in the Football Annual for 1874 and 1875 respectively. For other years prior to 1878, from which point the "Taylorian" takes up the tale, the contemporary sporting papers have been consulted, as well as the known surviving members of the various teams where accessible, and the names given of those who appear to have represented the School in the most important matches. For the season 1870-71 the first eight names given below are from an authentic printed list of the officers and committee for that season. In some of the earlier seasons there appears to have been difficulty in raising a full team from the School. Matches were either played with short teams, or the School team was supplemented by Masters, or by boys who had left the School, whose names do not appear in the following lists.

IV.—FIVES CHAMPIONSHIP.

Amongst other advantages derived from the removal of the School to Charterhouse Square was the possession of a row of open Fives Courts on the Rugby model, which have always been in full use. The School has been especially successful in this game. Two excellent covered Courts were presented by the M.T. Company in 1897, in commemoration of the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria. A Challenge Cup, presented in 1876 by the Masters of the School, is competed for annually. The Winners' names are given below :—

SCHOOL INSTITUTIONS.

I.—THE SCHOOL MISSION.

One of the most important developments of the period covered by these pages was the starting of the School Mission in 1890, as the result of a meeting of Old Merchant Taylors held in the School Hall on July 11th of the previous year, with the Head Master in the chair, supported by Bishop Thornton of Ballarat, the Ven. Archdeacon Hessey, Rev. Canon Burrows, Mr. W. Barrow Simonds, Mr. Timothy Holmes, and many other Old Merchant Taylors. Archdeacon Hessey moved, and Mr. T. Holmes seconded, the following resolution, which was declared to be carried unanimously.

“That this meeting of Old Merchant Taylors, believing that much good has resulted from the efforts of many Public Schools and Colleges of Oxford and Cambridge during recent years to advance the spiritual, moral and physical welfare of the masses of people, by the establishment of Missions in London and other large cities, resolves that it is desirable, and in accordance with the continuous religious character and associations of the School, that Merchant Taylors’ School shall take some definite part in the Home Missionary work of the Church of England, and that past and present members of the School be invited to co-operate in this undertaking.”

“In accordance with this resolution a representative Committee was appointed, and after much consideration and consultation with the Council of the London Diocesan Home Mission, the district of Shacklewell in the parish of West Hackney, of which the Rev. H. B. Ottley, O.M.T., was then Rector, was chosen as the field of the Mission. A site for a Mission House had been previously given by Mr. W. A. Tyssen-Amherst (now Lord Amherst of Hackney), and several munificent grants towards the Building Fund were made from the Bishop of London’s Fund, the Lady Meath Fund, the Merchant Taylors’ Company, and other sources. The Council of the London Diocesan Home Mission generously consented to furnish £100 a year towards the Missioner’s stipend under certain conditions, and have continued the grant to the present time, as well as a further grant towards the stipend of an Assistant Missioner. The first Missioner was the Rev. William Armstrong Buck, M.A., of St. Peter’s Coll., Cambridge, who entered upon his duties at the Mission on St. Barnabas’ Day, 1890. On the following July 11th, exactly one year from the meeting above referred to, the Mission buildings were formally opened and dedicated to God’s service by the Bishop of London. The existing accommodation soon proved too narrow for the requirements of the Mission, and in 1897 some extra land was acquired and an iron room erected for club and other purposes. For all practical purposes the Mission is now a separate Parish, with its full organisation. On Sundays, five and six services are held in the Church, while the other parts of the building are used for Sunday School classes. In addition to daily services, there is much going on at the Mission throughout the week, e.g., Clubs for Men, Boys, and Girls, Mothers' Meetings, Band of Hope, Penny Bank, Provident and Maternity Societies, Library, and in the winter Soup and Penny Dinners are provided. The Staff consists of the Missioner, Assistant Missioner and Lady-worker (supported by the Ladies' Association), who are materially assisted by a large body of voluntary helpers. The great and pressing need of the Mission is now a permanent Church of moderate dimensions suited to the requirements of the locality, for which purpose a sum of something over £2,000 has already been raised. It is earnestly hoped that the extra sum requisite for this purpose may speedily be contributed. Subscriptions and donations may be sent to the Secretary and Treasurer, Mr. E. M. Carrington, 26, Sutherland Avenue, W., or to the Missioner, the Rev. P. A. Kingsford, 50, Shacklewell Lane, N.E., either of whom will gladly furnish information about the work of the Mission and its requirements. The Bishop of Stepney, who has taken the greatest interest in the work of the Mission, is the President of the Mission, and the Head Master of the School, the Chairman of the Executive Committee.

II.—THE SCHOOL CHORAL SOCIETY.

This Society, founded in 1875, under the Presidency of the Rev. J. A. L. Airey, may claim to be the oldest of the School Institutions since the removal of the School to Charterhouse Square in that year. From the year 1876 an Annual Concert has been given to appreciative audiences in the Great Hall of the School, except in 1894, when, the School Hall not being available, it was held at Merchant Taylors' Hall, Threadneedle Street, at the invitation of the Master and Wardens of the Company. The following have been the Presidents of the Society:—

Rev. J. A. L. AIREY, 1875-81.
 Rev. R. A. BYRDE, 1881-83.
 Rev. J. A. L. AIREY, 1884-85.
 Mr. ARTHUR REYNOLDS, 1886-92.

Rev. C. E. PRIOR, 1892-95.
 Mr. ARTHUR REYNOLDS, 1896-97.
 Mr. L. W. BANGLEY, 1898-99.
 Mr. L. VON GLEHN, 1900-02.

The assistance of Old Merchant Taylors at the Annual Concert has always been heartily welcomed. O.M.T.'s willing to take part in the Chorus or to assist in other ways should communicate with the President or Secretary of the Society at Merchant Taylors' School. The present President (1907) is Mr. J. B. Patterson, M.A.

III.—THE ORCHESTRAL AND NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETIES.

Two institutions which enjoyed great popularity for many years were founded almost simultaneously in the latter part of the year 1880, viz., the NATURAL HISTORY SOCIETY, under the Presidency of the Rev. George Gates, and the ORCHESTRAL SOCIETY, under the able direction of Mr. Arthur Reynolds. In connection with the former many valuable lectures were given by the President and others, and frequent excursions were made on half-holidays to various localities of archaeological or scientific interest by the members of the Society. For several years the two Societies held a joint Conversazione annually at the School, when an attractive programme was always forthcoming, and many objects of scientific interest were exhibited and explained. Besides those already mentioned, Mr. F. G. Bampfylde, the Rev. C. E. Prior and Mr. C. H. Gibson lent much valuable aid to both these Societies. The last Conversazione seems to have been held in December, 1886, and both Societies to have come to an end shortly afterwards.

IV.—THE TAYLORIAN.

The Editor of this volume would be most ungrateful were he to omit mention of the School Magazine, THE TAYLORIAN, to which he is greatly indebted for much matter of interest in these pages. The first number of the Magazine was issued in October, 1878, under the editorship of Mr. C. H. Gibson and the Rev. C. E. Prior, who skilfully surmounted the trials and difficulties of its early years and placed it on an assured and permanent footing. Of subsequent Editors, thanks are specially due to the Rev. R. F. Hosken, and to the present Editors, Mr. R. C. Perry and Mr. C. E. Wade. Amongst other articles of interest to be found in the pages of THE TAYLORIAN, especial value will attach to the reminiscences of School life at Merchant Taylors' in the earlier half of the last century of such Old Merchant Taylors as the Rev. Dr. Bellamy, Dr. C. Lempriere, Rev. J. G. Brine, Bishop Thornton, Bishop Bousfield and others, which contain much interesting matter, rapidly passing out of living memory, not to be found elsewhere, and supply a gap in the history of the School between the period covered by Wilson's History and the present generation. Of lighter pieces, the "School Reminiscences" and other writings which appear over the initials E. F. T. are full of real humour, and occasionally of pathos. The duty of supporting this valuable School institution cannot be too strongly impressed on all old as well as present Merchant Taylors, forming as it does a contemporary record of the history of the School, and a pleasant bond between its past and present members.

V.—THE ROWING CLUB.

This Club, dating back to 1879, owed its origin to the initiative of the late Rev. W. Haines, who was not only first President of the Club, but held that office for twenty years, during which he devoted himself to its interests with great energy till failing health obliged him to resign. For some years the Club sent a four to various Regattas, and once to Henley, and also arranged matches with other schools. Mr. Haines was succeeded for a short time by Mr. W. M. Poole, an old Oxford Blue, who on resigning his Mastership was succeeded by Mr. R. Whittington, who had long rendered active service to the Club. The Club is for the present in abeyance, but it is hoped that it may be revived at no distant date.

VI.—THE DEBATING SOCIETY.

This Society, which has had a long if somewhat broken existence, meets once a week in the first term of the year. It is open to the two highest forms on the Classical Side, and to members of the Modern and Special Sixth. The Head Monitor of the School is ex-officio President, and the First Monitor on the Modern Side Vice-President.

VII.—THE PHOTOGRAPHIC CLUB.

This Club has created a good deal of interest in the School since it was started by Mr. R. C. Perry in 1895. The subscription for members is eighteenpence a term, with entrance fee of sixpence. Meetings of the Club are held once a week, at which each member is required to bring one photograph according to the "Subject List" issued by the Club. The photographs are marked by votes and prizes given, the most successful photographs being placed in the Club Album.

VIII.—THE CADET CORPS.

The formation of a Cadet Corps had been long discussed in the School and met with many zealous advocates. Owing, however, principally to a fear of its interfering with cricket, football, and other sports, the matter remained in abeyance until the war in S. Africa gave the necessary impetus to the movement. Many boys of the School had joined the London Rifle Brigade Cadet Corps, and on September 27th, 1900, the Adjutant-General gave "authority for the formation of a Cadet Company of Rifle Volunteers to be attached to the London Rifle Brigade, and to be recruited from Merchant Taylors' School." The M.T.Co. generously undertook to meet initial expenses and to provide an armoury, in addition to making an annual allowance. The first commanding officer was Lieut. (now Capt.) F. J. W. Whipple, to whose energy and enthusiasm the corps is mainly indebted for its present established position. In 1901 a Challenge Cup for proficiency in shooting and drill was presented to the Corps by Major W. E. Graham Login (O.M.T.), and the Sir Thomas White Lodge has given another trophy for the section most regular in attendance at drill. Mr. G. Holtzapffel has also presented a Challenge Cup for the commander of the smartest tent in camp, and generously gives each year spoons to the members of this tent.

The Corps attends a large number of field-days, nearly all the Saturday parades of the L.R.B., in addition to those arranged at Aldershot for all Public Schools and at other places for London Schools. About 75 per cent. of the Corps has regularly gone through the valuable training in the Public Schools Camp at Aldershot. The signallers of the Corps, organised by Mr. R. F. Cholmeley, have already reached a high degree of proficiency, and have for several years past taken part in the signalling exercises of the metropolitan volunteers at Whitsuntide. A serious drawback has been the distance of the School from any available range, but in 1906 arrangements were made with the 2nd London R.V. for the use of the Rainham Range on Wednesdays, and since then the standard of shooting has risen considerably. In 1907, out of ten matches with other Schools, only one was lost. The Corps has been represented three times in the "Ashburton" competition at Bisley and it is hoped that it will now be regularly represented each year. The strength of the Corps in October, 1907, was 73.

IX.—THE MERCHANT TAYLORS' SCHOOL CLUB.

The Merchant Taylors' School Club was founded in 1881 as the result of a Social Meeting of Old Merchant Taylors held at the Cannon Street Hotel on December 13th, 1880, on the initiative of the Rev. R. F. Hosken, when a Committee was appointed to consider the question of the formation of a Club for Old Merchant Taylors, and the basis on which it should be formed. This Committee reported to a meeting held in the School Library on Feb. 10th, 1881, when it was unanimously resolved that a School Club should be started, with a subscription of one guinea per annum, which should entitle a member to two dinners annually (without wine) and the School Magazine. The Ven. Archdeacon Hessey was invited to be its first President, Mr. R. Grey, Treasurer, and the Rev. R. F. Hosken, Secretary. The first half-yearly dinner was held on June 27th, 1881, attended by 105 Members, the President, the Ven. Archdeacon Hessey, being in the chair. Since that date, two dinners have been held each year, one in the summer and one in the winter, the average attendance being about 140. The success of these gatherings has been largely due to the untiring exertions of the first Secretary, Mr. Hosken, who was not only the Founder and Father of the Club, but from the time of its formation to the date of his lamented death laboured unceasingly to promote its welfare, regarding it as a means of banding together all old members of the School in common fellowship, and generally promoting the interests of the School, which were so dear to his heart. The Club also owes a debt of gratitude to its successive Treasurers, Mr. R. Grey, Mr. G. H. Wells, and Mr. E. Prescott, for their successful management of the finances of the Club, which are in a flourishing condition. All Old Merchant Taylors should make a point of joining this Club, and if not already members should write for information to the Hon. Secretary, Mr. H. B. Hays, 26, Old Bond St., W.

The following have served the office of President of the Club since its formation:—

X.—OLD MERCHANT TAYLORS' FOOTBALL CLUB.

Founded in 1882, this Club rapidly won its way to the front rank of Rugby Union Clubs, and has in one season or another contended successfully against all the best metropolitan and other clubs. A history of the Club's record from 1882 to 1902 has recently been published, edited by L. H. Gunnery, N. Parham and A. B. Geary, to which we must refer our readers for further particulars. The Club has one of the best metropolitan football grounds in the Old Deer Park at Richmond, and now puts four teams into the field on most Saturday afternoons during the season. The President of the Club is Mr. Montague Shearman, K.C. The present Capt. (1907-08) is Mr. J. E. Raphael, an old Oxford Blue and International. Mr. H. B. Hays, of 26, Old Bond St., W., and Mr. A. C. Tannahill, Firsleigh, Alexandra Grove, N. Finchley, N., the joint Secretaries, will give all necessary information to O.M.T.'s wishing to join or support the Club.

XI.—THE SIR THOMAS WHITE LODGE, NO. 1820.

This institution, founded in 1879, is one which, like the M.T.S. Club, owes its inception largely to the activity and energy of the late Rev. R. F. Hosken. The original Founders were Robert Grey, W. Rhys Williams, Henri Bué, F. J. Vialls, R. F. Hosken, Thomas Trollope, M.D., W. Brown, J. J. Forrester, J. M. Hare, and A. Cooper (now Sir A. Cooper). The W.M. for the year 1907-08 is J. Fayer Hosken. O.M.T.'s wishing to join the Lodge should apply to the Hon. Sec., H. R. Summers, 14, Woburn Square, W.C.

XII.—O.M.T. RIFLE CLUB.

The above Club is the youngest of the School Institutions, having been founded in 1906. The Club, open to all O.M.T.'s, provides facilities for shooting on a miniature range during the winter months and in the open during the summer. Up to the present time the miniature range at the headquarters of the L.R.B. has been used. The full range shooting has taken place at Bisley. The first match shot by the Club was against the A Co. of the L.R.B. and was won by 168 points to 158. The record for 1907 is two wins and two losses. The Championship of the Club and the Donegal Badge has been won twice by H. L. Attwater. The officers of the Club are: President, Rev. W. Baker, D.D.; Treasurer, F. W. Le Maitre, 55, Thornlaw Rd., W. Norwood; Hon. Sec., Capt. F. J. W. Whipple, 11, Woodlands Rd., Barnes, and Merchant Taylors' School, E.C.
